STORY OF OLD GLORY

Patriotic Exercises in Public Schools of Washington.

OBSERVANCE OF FLAG DAY

Music, Verse and Prose, Supplemented by Addresses.

RECITATIONS. BY THE PUPILS

History of the American Flag and What It Stands For-Order of Exercises.

The story of the American flag will be told tomorrow in the public schools of Washington. It will be told in music, in verse and in prose, but in each school house it will be told with that patriotic fervor which has inspired so many American soldiers to yield up their lives on the altar of their glorious country, and which has made the United States a world power. "Old Glory" will be the inspiration as well as the theme of many orators and school children. Its virtues will be depicted in the swelling choruses of the scholars and in the glowing words of the speakers. The day will be one of unalloyed patriotism, and the tri-color of the American republic will be everywhere as incense on the altar of Americanism, which means human liberty, valor, humanity and good

Interesting programs of speaking, singing, vocal music and recitations have been prepared for each of the schools of the District, and the day will be given up to the flag, its history and what it stands for. citizenshin.
